DETAILED ACTION

Priority

Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Oath/Declaration

The oath or declaration is defective. A new oath or declaration in compliance with 37 CFR 1.67(a) identifying this application by application number and filing date is required. See MPEP §§ 602.01 and 602.02.

The oath or declaration is defective because: (i) it omits the country in both the residence and post office addresses for all the inventors, and (ii) the date is missing for the signature of the inventor Joshua Edel.

Specification

- a) The specification is objected to because it omits a "Brief Description of the Drawings" section and header.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Art Unit: 1754

a) Claim 1 does not particularly point out and distinctly set forth any of the method steps for the claimed method for producing nanoparticles by using a continuous flow miniaturized reaction vessel. The claim raises the question: what are the method steps when using the continuous flow miniaturized reaction vessel?

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by the English abstract of DE 199 25 184 A1 (hence "DE-184").

The English abstract of DE-184 describes a continuous method for preparing micro- or nano-particles from materials by using a micro-mixer. An independent claim is included for the micro-particles obtained by the process. By using a micro-mixer, micro- or nano-particles can be obtained by a continuous process.

Art Unit: 1754

Claims 1-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by WO 00/23181 to Wang et al.

Fig. 2 and the description of Fig. 2 set forth on pg. 5 lines 19 et seq. in the Wang et al. application describes a method for making nanometer-sized particles (please also see the abstract) by pumping a reagent solution (metal ion solution) 20 and a precipitating agent solution (reactant solution) 30 from the individual containers so that the two solutions meet in a junction 12 (where evidently the solutions begin to react to form the nanoparticles which appear to be discharged from junction 12 via line 13).

Claims 11-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by U. S. Patent 6,537,506 B1 to Schwalbe et al.

The title and abstract of the Schwalbe et al. patent describes a miniaturized reaction apparatus comprising heat transfer fluid pathways; two reactant fluid pathways and one product fluid pathway.

Claims 11-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U. S. Patent 6,036,927 to Chatterjee et al.

Fig. 3a and the description of Fig. 3a set forth in col. 4 Ins. 59 et seq. illustrates a micro-reactor comprising what appears to be two reagent flow paths 34. It appears that the reagents flow down the flow paths 34 until they meet in common area 35 (i. e. "exiting chamber 35": please see col. 4 Ins. 64-65), which is equipped with a discharge hole 42 located at the bottom of the common area 35. The reactor is equipped with an embedded heating element 38: please also see col. 5 lns. 61-62.

U. S. Patent Application Publication No. US 2004/0025634 A1 disclosing the preparation of nanoparticles in what appears to be a miniaturized reactor is made of record.
